CONSIDERED WITH REFERENCE TO DOMAINS. If the people born in these domains--Fire, Earth, Air, and Water--do really embody the qualities of their triplicities, it must be plain to the thoughtful student that the cause of many an unhappy marriage can be traced to the attempted union of uncongenial elements. This has always been ascribed as a reason, though until recently very vague notions have been held in regard to the causes of such uncongeniality. Everybody has speculated and wondered at the quarrels and separations of the most excellent people considered individually, men and women who outside of the marital relation were the corner-stones of social and religious life. United, they were little short of demons. It is a shame and a disgrace, has been said, that those folks cannot get along together, and they certainly are not what they seemed...
